

Tropical Garden Master Class
With
Kim Morris
Garden Columnist – Cairns Post Newspaper
National President - Australian Institute of Horticulture

Saturday 27 March

- Suggested time: 10:00am – 1:00pm
Morning tea will be served
- Title: 'Re-designing an inherited Tropical Garden'
- Topics : Design ideas and suggestions
Soil management
- Audience Participation: Participants are welcome to bring a sample plant or leaf or some soil for comment and/or analysis. Sample must be in a sealed bag or container.
- Venue: Sundown. Address given on booking
- Cost: $20 per person for Gardening Club Members
$30 per person for Non Members
$5 discount for pensioners

Kirsty Densmore
2010 Festival Manager
Feast of the Senses

Kim Morris is a Master Horticulturist and a media journalist specialising in gardens and recording 'the green human experience' for many years.

He is a co-designer of the largest overseas Australian garden in the World at Zhanjiang China and is an award winning landscape designer.

He is currently National President of the Australian Institute of Horticulture and is an acknowledged senior trainer in gardens, horticulture and landscape